Interreligious Connectivity
digitally explored

17th to 19th of April 2024
University Copenhagen, Søndre Campus, Room 4A.0.56

Wednesday, 17.4.2024
Thursday, 18.4.2024

9:00-10:15 Presentation Sessions

Martijn Naaijer (Copenhagen)
Studying Religious Interconnectivity Using Annotated Textual Datasets

Susanna Fischer (Kassel)
On the Performative Nature of Digital Texts: New Ways of Editing Latin Travel Narratives

Süphan Kirmizialtin and David J. Wrisley (Abu Dhabi)
Interreligious Encounters in the Persina Gulf: A Digital Exploration of Manumission Documents

Mouhamadoul-Khaly Wélé (Lyon)
Digitizing Complex Historical Sources: Tools Used in the NOTCOM and Quran12 21 Projects

David J. Wrisley (Abu Dhabi)
Modeling Connectivity in Fifteenth and Sixteenth Century European Travel Narratives

Jacob Langeloh (Copenhagen)
Exploring the Network of Christian-Islamic Polemics: Insights and Learnings from the OTRA Project

10:45-11:45 Discussion Sessions

Florence Ninitte (Nantes)
The Fortleben of the Risālat al-Kindī as a Case Study of Textual Connectivity in Medieval Western Literature

Alessandro Gori (Copenhagen)
Connected Qur'anic and Biblical Quotations in the Ethiopian Christian Literatures on Islam

Ulisse Cecini (Barcelona)
Dominicus Germanus de Silesia's Online Edition

Manolis Ulbricht (Notre Dame)
Building Shared Conceptions of Interconnectivity in Byzantine Anti-Islamic Polemics and Greek Qur'anic Translations

13:30-14:45 Keynote Lectures

Mikko Tolonen (Helsinki)
Too Many Stories to Tell? Studying Re-use and Semantic Similarity with Computational Means

Monica Berti (Leipzig)
The Dream of Linked Humanities: Experiences, Infrastructures, Challenges
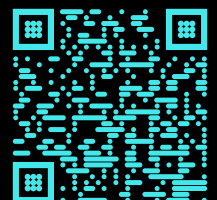

CARLSBERG FOUNDATION

Funded by the European Union

EuQu
The European Qur'an

UNIVERSITY OF COPENHAGEN

register
here