

Methods and Challenges for Mapping the Ancient World

29 May

08.30: Welcome from Mads Ortving Lindholmer and Adrastos Omissi

Methodological approaches to ambiguity and doubt in mapping

08.50: Gabriel Moss, University of North Carolina: Beyond the Border: GIS Tools for Mapping the Spectrum of Roman Imperial Control

09.40: Dorian Borbonus, University of Dayton: Mapping the imperial city of Rome: experiments on an urban scale

10.30: Coffee break

11.00: Adrastos Omissi, University of Glasgow: Mapping Uncertainty: How to map the so-called "Kingdom of Soissons"

11.50: Mads Ortving Lindholmer, The Danish Institute in Rome: Opening the Can of Worms: Doubt, Ambiguity and the Final Century of the West Roman Empire

12.40: Lunch

14.10: Fucheng Zhang, UCL: A Methodological Proposal for Mapping Territorial Control in Military Conflicts in Ancient Rome

15.00: Lindsay Holman, Jacksonville State University: Methods to Map Ambiguity in Class Maps

15.50: Coffee break

Ideology and cartography in the Roman world

16.20: Vanda Strachan, University of Oxford: A Rome by Any Other Name: toponyms, power, and the articulation of the ancient map

17.10: Helen Kaufman, Independent scholar: Spatial hyperbole and poetic geographies

30 May

Mapping the Late Roman Migration Period

09.00: Tillman Lohse, Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin: Mapping the Migration Period. History, Politics, and the Heavy Backpack of Cartographic Traditions

09.50: Salvatore Liccardo, University of Vienna: Beyond the arrow map: Rethinking the Way We Map Late Antique Migrations

10.40: Coffee break

11.10: Claire Holleran, University of Exeter: Mapping Migration in Roman Hispania: Possibilities and Pitfalls

Mapping Beyond Imperial Boundaries: Possibilities of Digital Cartography

12.00: Richard Westall, University of Dallas: Mapping Caesar's Civil War

12.50: Lunch

14.20: Pietro Zaccaria, KU Leuven and Monica Berti, Universität Leipzig: Mapping Marvels Towards a Topographical Approach to Ancient Paradoxography

15.10: Coffee break

15.40: Giuseppina Marano, Universität Münster and Università di Pisa: Mapping Ancient Polytheisms Through Cartography

16.30: Greta Hawes, Macquarie University, Chiara Palladino, Furman University, Scott Smith, University of New Hampshire, Cian Colgan, Furman University: Visualising space and time in the Greek mythic storyworld